APPENDIX B

REFERENCES

The following references are a few of the available articles that either summarize an important aspect of Satellite Meteorology or indicate a recent development. They are attached so that the interested reader can delve further.

Holmlund, K., 1993: Operational water vapor wind vectors from Meteosat imagery data. Second International Wind Workshop, Tokyo, EUMETSAT, Darmstadt-Eberstadt, Germany, 77-84, ISSN 1023-0416.

Purdom, J. F. W., 1976: Some uses of high resolution GOES imagery in the mesoscale...

SS/LORAL, 1995: Performance in space. CD-ROM, Space Systems LORAL, 3825 Fabian Way, Palo Alto, CA 94303

Velden, C. S., D. Stettner and J. Daniels, 2000: Wind vector fields derived from GOES rapid-scan imagery. 10th Conf. on Satellite Meteorology, Long Beach, CA., Amer. Meteor.
Soc., Boston, MA.

Vonder Haar, T. H., G. G. Campbell, E. A. Smith, A. Arking, K. Coulson, J. Hickey, F. House, Wark, D. Q., 1961: On indirect temperature soundings of the stratosphere from satellites. J.

201.

